Fire Scare

Much excitement was turned loose on our streets last Thursday evening when the fire alarm was given to call out the fire Company to put out a small blaze at the old jail. The Alert fire laddies responded promptly and a line of fire hose was promptly strung out but the fire had been put out in the meantime with a few buckets of water by its discoverer, N. L. Moon.

Picked Up Salmon

Several thousand cases of salmon was picked up in the vicinity of the Ramona wreck last week. Rasted and Iverson, of the Baranof, picked up about 60 cases and Otto Hofstad of the Halley's got 100, which were sold at nearby canneries. C. W. Demmert, of Shakan, gathered 260 cases and a Petersburg boat is reported to have picked up 1000 cases.

The prices received for the salmon ranged from 50 cents to $2.50 per case, the Klawock cannery paying the highest price.

New Streets

Sam Cunningham and Paddy Warrington have been busy this week laying a sidewalk on the street recently opened back of F. Matheson's and The Cash Store.

The grade for the new walk on Patenaude St. is being rapidly completed and both new walks will be ready soon.

C. P. Cole Builds

Tuesday morning, C. P. Cole started work on a residence for his own occupation beside his boat and carpenter shop.

Reciprocity

A dance will be given by the people of Wrangell next Friday evening in honor of the A. P. A. Cannery people, at Red Men's Hall at 8:30 sharp.

A Famous Actor
"What makes you think you can act?" asked the manager of the stage struck applicant.
"Burglars came into my room last night," replied the young man. "I pretended to be asleep and deceived them utterly."—Pearson's Weekly.

Cannery Assured

Point Ward Canning Co. Organized and Work on Buildings to Begin Immediately

"A new cannery at Point Ward only thirty miles from Wrangell is assured" says W. D. Grant, a member of the Point Ward Canning Company and largely interested in same.

As soon as lumber and timbers can be taken to the site, work will begin on the employees quarters and the wharves.

The location at Point Ward is ideal for a cannery. The well protected bay is in easy reach of red fish and the quality and quantity of humpys is assurance of a successful pack. The location has been fished frequently by eight nearly canneries and nearby fish traps are always successful.

The headquarters of the company will be at Wrangell. The names of all the parties interested in the project has not been made public.

No Annoyance.
The wife of a very irritable landlord in Ireland once received a letter from a disaffected tenant warning her that her husband would certainly be shot, but that nothing would be done to injure or annoy her in the least.—London Telegraph.

Return From Iskut

Tuesday morning several of the directors of the Iskut River Mining Co. arrived at Wrangell after a two-weeks stay at their mines on the Iskut River.

Alex. Varette, who has been working at the mines since July, and Canadian Customs officer from the boundry accompanied the party on the home trip.

Boat Burns

News was recieved from Hot Springs where Mr. and Mrs. Hood and Mrs. Royalty are camping that James Walton's gas-boat accidentally burned. Robt. Royalty went up to the springs with the boat to visit the camping party. After filling the gasoline tank on the boat he dropped a match, that he had just lighted his pipe with, into an empty can which exploded. The fire spread into the boat and around the engine and he was unable to put out the blaze. The boat is a total loss.

BALLET DANCERS.

Long Training and a Ceaseless Grind of Hard Work Are Theirs.

The modern imperial ballet schools of St. Petersburg and Moscow are under government control, forming, with the theaters and dramatic schools, a department of the ministry of the court. Pupils, both male and female, are entered at the early age of ten years—seldom older. After the necessary nomination has been obtained—by no means an easy matter nowadays—a stringent examination regarding health, strength, beauty of form and natural gracefulness has to be passed before the child is finally accepted. From the time it becomes an inmate the whole of its education, secular and artistic, is taken in hand, and some years of training are necessary before it is considered ripe to appear in public.

The dancer's life is a ceaseless round of hard work. All, even great artists, when at home take regular daily lessons in addition to the daily rehearsals for the next performance which are demanded, however old and well known the ballet. Thus an average of five to six hours' dancing a day is rather the rule than the exception, popular ballerinas in demand at charity performances and artistic at homes often dancing as much as eight hours in the twenty-four.

Trained artists are kept to design in every detail of period and subject, the dresses, scenery and accessories—a task obviously requiring much imagination and much knowledge—and often as many as 150 personages appear on the stage at the same time. Even the orchestra leaders qualify especially for ballet music, having no place in the orchestra at any other time.—London World.

Opened His Eyes to the Future. "Dickie, I'm awfully sorry you use tobacco. I don't like it, and mamma simply loathes it. Will you stop when we are married?"

"Isn't that asking a lot, dearie?" asked Dick.

"I wouldn't care for myself," answered the girl, "but you know it makes mamma deathly sick."

"Well, then," he promised cheerfully, "I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll never smoke when your mamma is with us." She threw her arms around him. "Darling," she murmured, "that's so good of you! I was afraid you'd insist on smoking once in a while after we were married!"—New York Globe.

A Curious Swiss Custom.
In one part of the canton of Ticino, Switzerland, a very quaint marriage ceremony prevails. The bridegroom dresses in his "Sunday best" and, accompanied by as many friends and relatives as he can muster for the fete, goes to claim his bride. Finding the door locked, he demands admittance. The inmates ask him his business, and he solicits the hand of his chosen maiden. If his answer is deemed satisfactory he is successively introduced to a number of matrons and maids, some perhaps deformed and others old and ugly. Then he is presented to some large dolls, all of whom he rejects with scorn amid general merriment. The bridegroom, whose temper is sometimes sorely tried, is then informed that his ladylove is absent and is invited to come in and see for himself. He enters and searches from room to room until he finds her in her bridal dress ready to go to church. Then all his anxiety is at an end, and the nuptials are duly celebrated.

The Man Guessed Right.

In a church at Amsterdam there is a very ancient funeral monument of white marble on which are engraved a pair of slippers of a very singular kind with this inscription, "Effen Nyl," which means "exactly," and the story of this singularity is this: A man who was very rich, but who was a bon vivant, took it into his head that he was to live a certain number of years and no longer. Under the impression of this idea he calculated that if he spent so much a year his estate and his life would expire together. It happened that he was not mistaken in either of his calculations; he died precisely at that time which he had predicted to himself in fancy and had then brought his fortune to such a predicament that after the paying of his debts he had nothing left but a pair of slippers. His relations buried him in a creditable manner and had the slippers carved on his tomb with the above laconic advice.—Tales and Anecdotes.

A Curious Tea Case.

A correspondent of the British Medical Journal gives an account of the curious symptoms he experienced after drinking tea. He writes: "Whenever I take tea I go through a regular procession of events most distressing and stupefying. Shortly, these are as follows: Within fifteen minutes of walking (movement seems to be essential) I feel hot about the scalp and knees. The former feels as if pepper were dusted all over it. Then I practically lose my sight and hearing and if in conversation cannot say more than 'yes' or 'no' because I am so faint and listless; then I lose the power of walking quite straight and choose the wall side of the path. Lastly I break out into a general perspiration, and within forty-five minutes I return to my senses." This correspondent adds that he has consulted many medical men, but has never found any means of relief.
